

Advancing Human Health and the Regional Economy.

At LSGPA, our mission is to evaluate discoveries in the life sciences and invest in the ones we believe will advance both human health and the regional economy.

We then mobilize our team of seasoned professionals and help guide each new discovery toward commercialization. We offer decades of collective entrepreneurial, operational and corporate governance experience, as well as access to a wealth of industry-wide relationships.

Central Pennsylvania's Resource for Early-Stage Life Sciences Funding and Entrepreneurial Support.

The transition from discovery to clinical application or patient use can be lengthy and expensive.

At the Life Sciences Greenhouse of Central Pennsylvania (LSGPA), we can help you navigate that space. We offer seed-stage funding and entrepreneurial guidance to companies with innovative approaches to materials, research tools, medical devices, diagnostics, drug discovery and healthcare IT.

The Road to Success Starts Here.

Since 2002, we have been actively funding healthcare technology companies in their very earliest stages, from emerging entities and companies seeking to expand or relocate, to university-based researchers or technology development groups.

We may be able to help you, too. If you are striving to commercialize a breakthrough life sciences technology and are committed to Pennsylvania, let's talk.

We're ready to learn more about you and your discovery. Call 717-635-2100, email contact@LSGPA.com or visit www.LSGPA.com.
